

Weekly Feedback Report	 CONTACT ADDRESS: Itu@mediasupport.org	Issued: 4 Oct 2024
Brief Summary
The most prominent topic among this week’s calls (26 September – 2 October 2024) to Radio Ergo’s nationwide audience feedback platform was the absence of rainfall leading to drought and water scarcity. The calls expressing the highest levels of stress came mainly from parts of Togdher and Sanag in the north, Puntland, and central Somalia. Some callers in Galmudug spoke of livestock dying. From other parts of Hirshabelle, Bay, Gedo, and Lower Juba regions, a number of callers raised concerns over the lack of rainfall and worries for their farms in particular. Many callers in different regions spoke of very high temperatures. At the same time, some callers in parts of Somaliland and Galgadud spoke of getting rainfall. The following summarises the calls by theme. IDPs – a caller in Mogadishu said they had been evicted from their camp and were now homeless. He said they were vulnerable and needed help. A caller in Bardera, Gedo, said they were IDPs who hadn’t received any aid. They had abandoned their farms after two years of crop failure and wanted their appeal for help to be shared with aid responders. Jobs – two male callers in Baidoa complained about the lack of job opportunities, with one saying that there was corruption involved in employment matters. A caller in Puntland complained about Oromo people taking their small jobs such as shoe-shining and wanted the migrants to be chased away. Drought and water shortage – in the north, callers in Balli-dhig and Bali-kheyr in Togdher reported heat, water shortage, and struggling livestock. Callers in Garagad and Taleh in Sanag also reported lack of water and livestock fodder. In Puntland, callers in Bosaso said the city was very hot and there was water shortage. In Qardho, a caller said their livestock had no water or fodder and they needed aid agencies to respond. Another caller said people were migrating away in search of water and fodder for their livestock. A caller in Godobjiran, Nugal, said they were facing water and food shortages and asked for humanitarian organisations to reach them. In Mudug, callers from Galkayo, Qalanqal, and Ba’adweyne appealed for help in coping with drought and water shortage. One caller said they needed boreholes to be drilled as the people and livestock were suffering from a lack of water. In Galgadud, a female caller in Biyo-gadud said their livestock were dying and people were migrating away in search of water and grazing. Another in Adado also said livestock were dying and called for aid. A caller in Abudwak said their water catchments had no water, and another elsewhere in the region said the water in wells was sour and they needed water aid. In Hiran, three callers in Beletweyne spoke of intense heat and a lack of rainfall that was concerning them. A female caller in Jowhar, M. Shabelle, said there was barely any water and the vegetation was disappearing due to drought. A female caller in Wanleweyn, L. Shabelle, said their farms had failed due to lack of water and she appealed for aid. In Gedo, several in Bardera noted the heat and lack of rain but said they were doing alright. A female caller in Wargadud said their livestock were hit the worst and they needed aid to get water and fodder for them. In Kismayo, L. Juba, callers said it was hot and dry, with one caller saying they faced food shortage and needed aid. Weather Forecasts – a listener in Burtinle, Nugal, wanted weather forecasts especially now that the rains were delayed. [Radio Ergo frequently receives calls from listeners wanting more regular weather information].

Livestock – callers mainly from the north and central regions asked for help and advice with diseases affecting their goats, with two mentioning camel diseases. A female caller in Badhan, Sanag, said they wanted help in diagnosing and treating a disease that was killing their animals. Another female caller in Mogadishu said their goats were weak and feverish and some had died and she wanted advice from the radio veterinary experts on what was causing this.

Agriculture – a common problem reported by callers this week to the farming programme was white pests infesting their crops and vegetables and destroying them. They wanted advice on pest control.

Rainfall – in Somaliland, several callers in parts of Togdher reported rainfall including Burao, Bin-awd, and Talabur. One Somaliland caller said they had had rainfall with hailstones. In Galgadud, several female callers in Adado reported rainfall although one said it was little and the weather was still hot. Another female caller in Bahdo also said they had received rainfall.
